

Brand book.

Identity, personality, voice and creative direction for a studio that grows digital commerce by making every answer to measure.

FAY SAL

CONTENTS

What's inside.

Part one records the identity as it exists on faysalstudio.com and in the logo files. Part two turns it into content for the awareness phase.

تفصيل، مش جاهز.

Made to measure, not off the rack.

A tailor doesn't follow fixed steps. He looks at the person, takes the measurements that matter, and cuts something that fits. That is how we work on a store: every brand has its own customer, product, promise and operations, so the fix is designed for that brand.

Templates, checklists and “10 tips to boost conversions” are the off-the-rack suit we refuse to sell. The word we want a visitor to leave with is مفصل, made to measure. Premium is the result; made to measure is the reason.

Four traits, and the line each won't cross.

01

Inventive

“We'll find the answer for your store, not apply a template.”

We try unusual ideas: linking a reel to the exact product it shows, a try-on that works the first time.

NOT CHAOTIC

No fixed steps is not no method.
Every idea is argued from evidence.

02

Candid

“If there's nothing worth acting on, we'll tell you that instead of inventing a project.”

From the site, and meant.

NOT HARSH

We name the problem. We never mock the owner or their current developer.

03

Tasteful

Quiet layouts, few colours, one strong line.

Confidence through restraint, the way the products our clients sell are made.

NOT SNOBBISH

The taste serves selling, not showing off.

04

Commercial

Every creative decision ties back to orders, trust or the team's time.

Creativity pointed at sales.

NOT SALESY

No urgency tricks, no “limited offer”, no guaranteed numbers.

Like a smart friend in the business.

English · site, proposals, Gulf outreach

We to you. Sentence case everywhere, buttons included: “Request a Commerce Review”.

Short sentences, concrete nouns. The delivery fee, the address asked twice, the reel nobody can shop.

Gap, then consequence. “The packaging and the shop floor say one thing. The website says ‘template.’”

No hype. No exclamation marks, emoji, “revolutionize”, “seamless” or “10x”.

Numbers carry their baseline. “150+ orders in one month · 0 sales in the previous 6.”

Arabic · social, Egyptian clients

مصري لصاحب البراند المصري، زي صاحب خبرة بيكلم صاحبه: منتجك بريميوم. بس موقعك ظالمه.

للخليج: عربي بسيط وواضح. عمرنا ما نترجم الإنجليزي كلمة بكلمة: نعيد كتابة الفكرة.

نسيب الكلمات اللي أصحاب المتاجر بيقولوها فعلاً: بريميوم، أورد، الدفع، الشحن، الريلز.

بس هي المفصلة: حاجة صاحب البراند فخور بيها، وبعدها الفجوة اللي حاسس بيها.

نقفل بنقطة، مش علامة تعجب. الثقة مش بتزقق.

FaysalStudio

Faysal Agency

One name, two tones.

The device that ties the logo, the site and the social work together.
Every headline gets at most one turn: a colour turn or a serif turn, never both.

LOGO

FAY in ivory, SAL in burgundy.

SERIF TURN • SITE

One word switches to serif italic in rose.

COLOUR TURN • POSTERS

The second beat takes the turn colour.

Two marks, two jobs.

THE STATEMENT

Stacked wordmark

The name as a statement. Site hero, social avatar, the cover of a proposal or campaign. Anywhere the mark is big. Always on its own ink square; never smaller than 120px wide.

THE SIGNATURE

F monogram

Nav mark, favicon, app icon, the corner of a document, WhatsApp and email avatars. Anywhere the mark is small or repeated. Keep its wine gradient square, or crop it to a circle.

Horizontal lockup. The monogram in a circle beside FAYSAL in Geist 700, tracked 0.14em, inside the glass pill. Exactly how the site nav does it.

Use the files exactly as they are.

Clear space

Keep space around the mark equal to the height of FAY. Nothing enters it.

Minimum size

Below 120px, SAL stops reading on black (1.5:1). Switch to the F monogram.

Favicon

The favicon is the F monogram. Never ship a framework’s default icon.

Geist carries everything.

Georgia italic appears only as the turn word. Headlines stay tight: the negative tracking is part of the voice. Uppercase only for small labels.

WHERE VALUE GETS LOST

بس

Alexandria carries all Arabic. بس is the pivot of every hook.

Amiri is its turn-word twin, used exactly as Georgia is in English. Give Arabic about 15% more leading than Latin. Right-aligned or centred, never justified.

HOOK · ALEXANDRIA 800

HEADLINE · ALEXANDRIA 700

السطر الثاني.

Every brand has a first line: the product, the fabric, the packaging. The second line is what the customer lives online. Faysal Studio works on the second line.

FIRST LINE · IN IVORY

منتجك بريميميوم.

The truth the owner is proud of. It earns trust.

SECOND LINE · IN THE TURN COLOUR

بس موقعك ظالمه.

The gap they feel but haven't named. It earns attention.

Four pillars. One gap.

We introduce the problem before we sell the service: no prices, packages or “book a call” on the posts. Success is saves, shares, profile visits and DMs that start with “...موقعي”.

THE GAP · POSTER 4:5

الفجوة

The distance between a premium product and the store that sells it.

منتجك بريميوم. بس
موقعك ظالمه.

ONE DETAIL · CAROUSEL

تفصييلة

One small, specific fix and why it matters. Proof we notice what others skip.

فكرة بسيطة. بس

CUSTOMER'S EYE · REEL 9:16

عين الزبون

A real mobile shopping journey, screen-recorded and narrated by Omar in plain Egyptian Arabic.

THE WORKSHOP · CAROUSEL OR REEL

الورشة

How we invent: sketches, experiments, an idea tried and dropped. “No fixed steps” made visible.

A grid that reads as a pattern.

Alternate paper and ink so the profile looks designed from the first visit.

Base every Customer’s-eye and Detail post on a store we actually reviewed.

01	GAP • PAPER	منتجك بريميموم. بس موقعك ظالمه.
02	WORKSHOP • INK	مفيش وصفة واحدة... عشان كده بنفصل.

Carousel, reel, caption.

Carousel

Slide one is a poster. Each slide: counter, the two-beat finding, a real screenshot in a dark phone frame, one sentence on the fix. Mark problems with a numbered burgundy dot, never red circles or arrows.

Reel

Open on the hook, spoken aloud. Then the real screen at real speed, Omar's voice, captions in Alexandria 700 on a 70% ink bar. Close on the second line alone.

Five checks.

01 Can you read the hook in one second on a phone?

02 Is there exactly one turn?

03 Does it praise something real before naming the gap?

04 Is every claim something we saw, not guessed?

05 Would a store owner save it to show their team?

Where the marks stand.

- 01

One typeface

Reset “FAYSAL STUDIO” under the F in Geist, with a space, so the system speaks with one voice.
- 02

The circuit trace

It says “IT company”. Try a cut where the lower arm ends in the same slant as the top; keep the circuit only for ERP and integration work.
- 03

One burgundy

Move the wordmark from #57262B to #64292F and add an ivory-on-burgundy version for small use.
- 04

The site

Replace the default favicon, and rewrite “How we work” as principles, not numbered steps.

Made to measure.
